She Binnes Away at Woodey with Her Pather's Pictol When They Attack Her in the Street-She Didn't Hit Him, but He and Lukey Are Sent to the Island. The Hosey family, which lives in the rear tenoment at 444 Cherry street, directly opposite Corlears Hook Park, consists of Henry Hosey, his two grown sons, Larry and John, and bis ployees, the sons are coal peddlers, and Maggie teeps the house.

Last Saturday evening Larry and John Hosey went to Lilienthal's saloon, at Jackson and Cherry streets. They found there two frequentwa of the place known as Lakey and Woodsy waiting for a drink.

"Are yez goin' to settem up?" asked Lakey of Larry Hosey. The latter had hardly time to give a negative answer before a large schooner, wielded by Woodey, landed with great effect on the back of his head. His brother John grabbed Woodsy and threw him to the floor. By this time it was a fight in earnest. The two brothers seemed to be getting the worst of it, with a badly battered head and a plack eye between them, when two policemen from the Delancey street station apseared on the scene. Lakey and Woodsy saw them first, and lost no time in escaping se Monroe street by back alleys and over tations that they didn't start the fight, were hustled off and locked up. An hour or so later Lakey and Woodsy came back to their stamping ground. Soon after the elder Hosey steppe in to get his ale. The formality of asking the old man to buy drinks was soon gone through with, after which he was "done up," as his sons had been. The police didn't interfere, and Lakey and Woodsy went away, with three Hoseys to their credit. The only one left was Magrie.

and heard all about the row and how her two brothers had been arrested.

"I didn't sleep a bit that night," she said yesterday, "for I knew that they'd be after me next. My father goes to work at six o'clock in the morning, and I was up at the peep of day Sunday makin' the fire. I got him off all right, and about seven o'clock I was slittin' by the window, when who comes through the alley but Lakey and Woodsy. Mind ye, they hadn't been to bed at all, and they wuz both crazy with whiskey. And how clever they wuz to wait till the cle man went away. Well, anyhow, I got up and bolted and locked the door. Up the stairs they comes and knocks.

"Come on now, Mag, said Woodsy, 'we did yer cle man and yer two brothers, and we went you."

rer ole man and yer two brothers, and we went you."

"I wux scared to death and I thought they wux coming through the door every minute. I didn't know what to do, when I just happened to think that the old man kent a pistol in the drawer. I had it in a minute and then says I: 'Come on now yerself. If it wasn't for making a hole in the door I'd carry away the top of yer head."

The two retreated. About 7:30 o'clock Maggies started for the baker's with the pistol in the pocket of her dress.

"No sooner had I got around on Monroe street," she said, continuing the narrative, "than who was waitin' for me but Lakey and Woodsy, hit me in the side of the head. I would have put a hole in him there only Tim Murray was standin' between me and him and I wux afraid of hittin' Tim. They followed me back and into the alley, and Woodsy made another swipe at me. Well, that wux enough. I turned around and blazed away at him twice. The first time he just ducked his head or I would have killed him sure.

"Then the crowd came around, and Ryan from the Delancey street precinct comes up and says 'Mag, did you fre those shots' I says 'No;' but he took the gun and fired it onet himself, and dat settled it. He had me dead to rights,"

Maggie added that the policeman waited himself, and dat settled it. He had me dead to rights."

Maggie added that the policeman waited while she put on her new Easter bonnet to go to the station house. Lakey and Woodsy were both arrested, and with the two Hosey brothers and Maggie faced Magistrate Cornell in Essex Market Court on Sunday morning. The two Hoseys were discharged. A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was made against the grip but she satisfied the Judge that she had carried it in her hand, and she was allowed to go free. Lakey and Woodsy were put under $200 bonds to keep the peace for three months. In default of the $200 they were sent to the Island.

His friends furnished ball for Woodsy, who is legally known as John Wood, on Tuesday, but Warden Dunphy refused to release him on the score that under the Wilds law he must stay on the Island five days. Magistrate Cornell complained to Correction Commissioner Wright, who ordered Dunphy yesterday to release Wood.

HANSEN GETS HIS DIVORCE.

Stover Gives Mrs. Sneckner

E. Hansen, jeweller, has obtained a decree of absolute divorce against his wife Emily from Justice Pryor of the Supreme Court, on the ground of her relations with Dr. Frank Le Compte Dow.

Mrs. Louise P. Sneckner was further examined before Justice Stover of the Supreme Court yesterday in her action for a separation from William Sneckner, 83 years old. He was a wid-ower, with four children, when he married her in 1896. She said he made her black his boots at Saratoga. She put them aside, as she was ashamed when a sorvant entered, but he asked the servant if he could black boots, and when he said he could. Sneckner said that was more than his wife could do.

he said he could. Sneckner said that was more than his wife could do.

Frank A. L. Sneckner, their son, 29 years old, testified that he had lived with his parents until 1891, and often heard his father use abusive language to his mother. He would wake her up at all times of the night and swear at her and sometimes he would swear at her for an hour at a time. He used to say to the witness:

"You have a damn fine father, but a fool of a mother."

Once the old man had gone away on a two-weeks' pleasure trip while the plaintiff was sick abed.

Busckner denied seriatim his wife's charges of crucity, and Justice Stover gave Mrs. Sneckner a decree of separation. He will send the question of allmony to a referee.

WOMAN POLICY DEALER NABBED.

After She Had Sold a Cop a Slip He Arrested Her in Her Children's Presence.

In Yorkville Court yesterday four alleged policy dealers were arraigned before Magistrate Denel. They were Mrs. Lena Schroeder. 35 years old, of 371 West Fifty-second street; William Boyce of 639 Tenth avenue, Eugene Deyo of 751 Seventh avenue, and Thomas Kyle of 644 Third avenue. The woman and Byle of 644 Third avenue. The woman and Deyo were held for examination to-day. Boyos was committed for trial in $500 tail, and Kyle was discharged for lack of evidence.

Mrs. Schroeder is the mother of three children, a girl of fourteen, a boy of ten, and a baby. Ward Man O'Sullivan of the West Forty-seventh street station, who made the arrest, had seen people leaving Mrs. Schroeder's rooms with policy slips, so on Tuesday evening he went to her house and put down 15 cents. Mrs. Schroeder accepted the money, together with a slin which he presented, bearing a 'gir.' She handed out a slip for policy. Her husband was in the adjoining room at the time making cigars, while her two children were studying their lessons at a table in the same room. When the policeman arrested her, Mrs. Schroeder aimost fainted. Her children cried, and her husband, on leavning what had occurred, wrung his hands and walled piteously.

O'Sullivan also arrested William Boyce, whom he found doing business in the rear of a plumbing shop at 630 Tenth avenue. Six men escaped from this place by a rear window. Deyo was arrested by Detective Fox of the West Forty-seventh street station, and Kyle was brought in by Inspector Brooks's men, Casey and Carey. Deyo were held for examination to-day. Boyce

The appeal from the decree of the Probate Court, approving and allowing the will, was taken on March 21 by Elizabeth Cheney, Alice Cheney, Mary Cheney, and Elizabeth Cheney, the widow and daughters, who, through their attorney, based their appeal on the ground "that said instrument was not the last will and testament of Benjamin Cheney, that it was not legally exceuted, and that he was not, when said instrument was executed, of sound mind."

LATIST LONDON QUOTATIONS.

The narrowness of the stock market was never more apparent than to-day. During the forenoon the professional element showed a disunimportant, a moderate movement in prices a demand for stocks from beyond the limits of the Stock Exchange. In the afternoon the impression became prevalent that the President had decided to act at once upon the resolutions recognizing the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents, adopted by the House yesterday. In consequence, stocks bought early in the day were thrown over, and sales for short account were apparently made. The revival in the Senate of debate upon the Cuban situation had some effect upon the speculative temper, and so did the announcement that $500,000 gold would be shipped to Europe to-morrow. In regard to this last it is generally understood that, like yesterday's shipment, it is made possible by the payment of a small premium by German bankers, and it is believed that they are compensated by the Russian Government for their trouble and risk in withrawing gold from this country has yet been made by the Treasury De partment upon the special depositary banks for the comparatively small portion of the proceeds of the last Government loan held made at present, because the banks holding the argest amounts of Government funds have roluntarily turned a part of them into the Sub-Freasury. Payments of that character since Monday aggregate $1,750,000. The $500,000 gold that will be shipped to-morrow was withdrawn from one of the special depositary banks, and, like the previous withdrawal from the same bank, caused a decrease in the Govern ment's gold balance. The few noteworthy dealings in stocks were in Sugar Redning, which sustained a net loss of 1% 🕏 cent.; in American Tobacco, which, after a further decline of 2 points, closed nearly 1 ₩ cent. higher than yesterday; in General Electric, Chicago Gas, Louisville and Nashville, and Union Pacific. With the exception of a net decline of 1% & cent. in Sugar Refining and of 134 P cent, in C., C., C. and St. Louis, the net fluctuations were comparatively unim-portant, and as a rule favored operators for short account.
